

The world is different now
Our lives are different now
And “normal”
Feels far away

While we wait for normal
We do what we do best,
we adapt and we learn.

We adapt to our new classrooms
To our new classmates
And our new coworkers

Learning as students and teachers
To create something out of nothing
To remind each other who we are
And to stay connected,
no matter what

We don't know when normal will return
We don't know what challenges lie ahead
But we do know, we'll get there... together

We will return
With all that we've learned, and make “normal”, better.
New ideas
New perspectives
New skills
New understanding

We will make it happen, together.

Maricopa.edu